SANITARY REPORT.

To the Guardians of Enniscorthy Union.

As the Medical Officer of Health of Killann Dispensary District, I hereby report to you that a work of much sanitary importance might well be undertaken at the present time, as it would afford some slight assistance to a few of the unemployed of the district, and no objection ought to be raised by any body, as the expense will be voluntarily borne by one of the parties most interested. I allude to the water supply of Bolamore and Wheelagower, and as Mr Byrne would be most benefited by the improvement I am about to suggest, he is willing to have the expenses of this work assessed on his farm alone in Boladurragh. Mr Byrne would do the work himself, apart from any interference of the Sanitary Authority, but as the Local Government Board gives unusual facilities for doing such works by lending money, through the Board of Guardians, at a lower rate of interest than it could otherwise be got, when the work for which it is borrowed can be shown to be of sanitary utility, he is anxious for the Sanitary Authority, in their official capacity, to direct the works to be carried out, and have the expense assessed on his holding only.

In former times, the Colclough's of Duffrey Hall, anxious to have a stream of clear water running by their residence, with much ingenuity, conceived the idea of raising a head weir in the river, high up in Boladurragh, and constructed a narrow water course from there to Duffrey Hall, about two miles distant. So cleverly was the water level found, and the stream led along through an uneven country that the people there can scarcely be persuaded that the water in the open stream does not flow against an activity. Besides supplying Duffrey Hall, this skilfully constructed water course supplied all the farms and cottages by which it flowed, in a district otherwise badly, if at all supplied with water. Now, the head weir has fallen into bad repair, and the dam, for some distance, is leaky, allowing the water to fall back and regain the river bed, which flows on a lower level beside it for some distance. I recommend that the defects in the dam and river be repaired. I further suggest that some springs in Mr. Edward Byrne's farm be connected by a drain with the water course, so as to secure a better and unfailing supply of good water. This would, in addition, drain Mr. Byrne's field, and it is in consideration of the advantage which would thus accrue to his farm, and the fact that the work on the water course and weir would all be done on his land, that he is willing to have the expense assessed thereon. I need scarcely say what an improvement, in a sanitary point of view, it would be to the dry uplands of Bolamore and Wheelagower, to have an unfailing stream of clear water flowing through them. It is on this ground that, as Medical Officer of Health, I recommend it. Some of Lord Carew's tenants would be especially benefited by the suggested improvement.—Signed this 28th day of January, 1880.

Some time since Captain Hamilton suggested that one of the Infirmary wards on each side of the House ought to be utilised as a chronic ward. At present the Hospital accomodation is insufficient. I am sometimes compelled to refuse admission to cases fully entitled to Hospital Relief -

If the Board thought well of carrying out Captain Hamilton's suggestions it would be the easiest way of supplying the necessary number of beds for the sick -

If a door were opened into the yard near the straw House on the men side from the old infirm ward & the other door closed, it would make a suitable one for about 12 patients -

Killane P.O.

Ennis 19th February 1880

Lord and Gentlemen

I beg to inform your Board that I have served notices on all persons residing in my district who were returned as defaulters under Vaccination acts by Dr. Carmody Killane Dispensary District. In many cases I find the parents of children have complied with the law but the births being registered in some district and the operation of vaccination performed in another, therefore although a compliance of the law had taken place the parties still continued to appear as defaulters in the register books of the district where the birth had been registered. Owing to this defect in the law a great deal of unnecessary trouble is imposed on relieving officers. I will make a further report relative to Killane district defaulters on this day week when I receive the report of the medical officer showing the number of the children he has vaccinated since the service of notices took place.
