Ordered—That the following Grand Jurors be appointed a committee to consider the position of the Trustees of the Wexford Free Bridge, in relation to the Wexford Harbour Embankment Company, and the future progress of the work : Sir James Power, Bart., Charles A. Walker, Esq., Lieut.-Col. Hatton, James Howlin, Esq., William R. Farman, Esq., John H. Talbot, Esq., Thomas Braddell, Esq.

Report of the Committee appointed to consider the question of the Free Bridge.

We, the Committee appointed by the Grand Jury, to enquire into the subject of the proposed Free Bridge over the River Slaney, at the Town of Wexford, having carefully done so, Report

That, from many unavoidable circumstances, the efforts to substitute an Iron for a Wooden Bridge, have failed, and as it is necessary for the improvement and maintenance of the Harbour of Wexford, that the present old Bridge should be removed as soon as possible, We recommend that the original proposition to build a substantial and sufficient Timber Bridge should be now carried into effect as quickly as possible.

That our County Surveyor should be directed to prepare a plan and specification for the same, having due regard to the amount of funds available for the purpose, and that advertisements for contracts should be immediately issued.

We find on enquiry into the funds available by the Trustees, (exclusive of the £1,600 which was levied off the County by presentment, made under the Act of 1847, pending the passing of the new Act of 1851), and also taking into account the necessary current expenses and a sum now due to the contractor for building the two stone abutments, now standing upon the site of the New Bridge, that we could not calculate the certain amount available for the construction of the Bridge higher than a sum between £10,000 and £11,000.

We consider that it is of the greatest importance to the County, and to the interest of every cesspayer in it, that the construction of the new Timber Bridge should be of the most substantial nature that can be executed for the amount available to the Trustees, as the more substantial the original construction is, so much less will be the periodical presentments for keeping the structure in repair.—Also, as it is by no means clear that the sum of £1600, which was levied pursuant to presentment of Grand Jury, under the Act of 1847 pending the passing of the Act of 1851, was inconsistent with the powers granted by those Acts, and as that sum is now in hand, and the amount would be so infinitely small to each cesspayer if represented to the credit of the County, and that the said sum, if added now to the other beforementioned available funds would enable the original construction of the New Bridge to be more substantial, and consequently would diminish the periodical expense of repairs, and thus effect an annual saving to the cesspayers of the County.

We recommend that the Grand Jury should assent to said sum being retained by the Trustees, and applied to the building of the New Bridge.

That we are fully of opinion, that in the execution of their duties, the Trustees appointed by the Grand Jury, under the said Acts, have diligently and honourably performed their trust, and that not the slightest blame can attach to them for the delay which has hitherto prevented the building of the New Bridge, and which it does appear has proceeded from circumstances not under their control.

That, it having been represented on the part of the Wexford Harbour Embankment Company, that they have received a notice from the Admiralty, temporarily staying them from extending the Embankment to the full quantity of the acreage, which they were originally entitled to reclaim, and that, should the Admiralty finally insist on such decrease of acreage, it would be only just that some abatement should be made to said Company out of the instalments to which said Company were liable. We consider that it would be just, in case the Company were absolutely prevented by the Admiralty, from enclosing the full original amount of acreage, that it should be left to a friendly arbitration, whether any, and to what amount an abatement should be made in the amount of the last instalments which the Company were originally bound to pay, and we recommend the Grand Jury to approve of it, should such a contingency arise during the continuance of the powers of the Trustees under the said Acts.
