Sir,

I yesterday evening received your letter informing me that I had been re-elected as Vice-Chairman for the ensuing year by the new Board of Guardians. Pray convey ^{to them} the deep sense I feel of the honour they have conferred on me, although I feel that I scarcely deserve it of them, having unfortunately been so seldom able to attend the meetings of the Board during the past year. I trust, however, that during the coming summer I shall be able to be a more regular attendant, & that together we shall attend to the interests of the rate payers as well as the poor.

I am, Sir,
Yrs faithfully
J. M. Maher

Composition of a specimen of Water, submitted to me for the purpose of Analysis by

The Guardians of Ennisbeg Union

An Imperial Gallon (70,000 Grains weight) contains the following in Grains:—

	grains
Total Solid Matters, ———	4.901
INCLUDING:—
Albuminoid Nitrogen ...	0.615
Ammonia ...	0.102
Nitrous Acid ...	Trace
Nitric Acid ...	Trace
Calcic Sulphate ...	Trace
Chlorine ...	None

Although there is rather a large amount of albuminoid nitrogen in this water the small quantity and appearance of the residue which it leaves on evaporation, indicates that the organic matter is

In fresh Sewage the Nitrogen present is chiefly in the form of Albuminoid substances, but it speedily becomes Ammonia (a compound of Nitrogen with Hydrogen). After some time the Ammonia oxidizes successively into Nitrous and Nitric Acids. The presence of Albuminoid Nitrogen in Water when it amounts to a hundredth part of a grain per gallon (and that Ammonia in the second decimal place of a grain), indicates the presence of Sewage. The same amount of Ammonia also indicates a bad Water. The presence of large quantities of Nitrous Acid or Nitric Acid in water is a suspicious circumstance, as these substances are formed from Nitrogenous bodies; they are, however, not noxious, and Nitric Acid, in moderate amounts, often occurs in good Water, when hard. Dark coloured peaty Waters often however contain much Albuminoid Nitrogen derived from harmless vegetable matters.
