dition of the works. A Presentment was passed for making a road from the Bridge to the Wexford and Ferryarrig road, at Elmville gate. The amount presented for the road, £300, has proved insufficient to induce any contractor to undertake it. The Trustees, whose funds have been bearing interest, have realised a certain sum out of the moneys presented and levied for the construction of the Bridge and northern approach. To avoid the necessity for a further application for raising money out of the county rates, and to enable the work to be executed without delay, the Trustees have, out of the balance standing to their credit, a sum of £300 presented for the construction of said road, which is essential for the accommodation of the public. In default of a contractor being obtained, the carrying out of this project was, at last Assizes, entrusted to the County Surveyor, and with the assistance of the sum allocated in aid, the Trustees have reason to believe their officer will at once be able to make a satisfactory arrangement for the prosecution of the work simultaneously with the approaches from the town now in progress.

V. L. HATTON, Chairman.

Wexford, 21st February, 1865.

COUNTY SURVEYOR'S REPORT.

To the Trustees of the Wexford Free Bridge

GENTLEMEN—I beg to report that since the above-named works were placed under my control, with the understanding that Mr. Thomas Prendergast should be allowed to proceed with them in accordance with the advice of counsel obtained previous to the last Assizes, pretty fair progress was made up to the middle of October last, when he suspended operations. They were resumed in the latter end of December, and since then prosecuted as steadily and fairly as the very broken weather permitted. Calculating from what has already been done, the whole of the filling should be finished in about eight weeks. More than half the quantity of broken stones required for the metalling has been prepared. Steps have been taken for getting the timber piling ready, and I expect that the filling will be sufficiently consolidated to secure and sustain it, as well as the masonry and other works remaining to be executed in time to permit the roads being opened for public traffic by the end of next June.

I am, Gentlemen, your obedient servant.

JAMES B. FARRELL.

SURVEYOR'S REPORT TO THE FREE BRIDGE TRUSTEES
READ TO THE GRAND JURY, AND APPROVED.

To the Trustees of the Wexford Free Bridge.
GENTLEMEN—The late unfavourable weather has interfered with the completion of the earthworks, which will, I expect, be finished within a month. The progress of the masonry has been satisfactory as well as the formation of the footpaths and carriage way. The greater proportion of the broken stone is prepared, and I hope that within three months the entire distance from the mailcoach road to town (including both approaches) may be opened for traffic.

I am, Gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

JAMES B. FARRELL.
